NOTES

Albania-Italy: In conjunction with current overtures toward several other non-Communist European countries, Tirana has invited closer ties with Italy. This latest move to emerge from diplomatic and economic isolation came on 28 March when the Hoxha regime proposed negotiation of an agreement on quality controls on food imports, reciprocal recognition of drivers' licenses, laying of an Albanian-Italian phone cable, and a visit to Italy by an Albanian folk music troupe. Rome and Tirana already exchange ambassadors, and relations between the two countries are correct, if not good.
